Drug Testing.

Unfortunately, in today's world drugs have become very readily available to anyone, at an age and at any budget. This is very worrying as drugs are being used at the workplace as well as at social times and gatherings. What can the employer do....?

Here at CSS, we have now invested in testing equipment and training to support any employer that may have a concern over their employee's welfare whilst at work and at home. Being a responsible employer is so very important. Whether your employees are operating machinery, sitting at a desk or other, their welfare and your business should be paramount.

Contact CSS today to arrange a meeting to discuss your concerns and options that are available to you.

Being a responsible employer not only looks after your employees, but also your profits.

Our Mission

'To not only offer a comprehensive range of transparent services to the widest range of market sectors but to deliver those services to the highest standard of customer service whilst adhering to the strictest code of ethics as dictated not just by law; but by common decency and collective humanity. To protect and empower our staff in order that they can develop within our organisation and pass on that knowledge and experience within our business and to the benefit of customers.'
